
Πραξεις Ανδρεου και Μαθθαια ◇ THE ACTS OF ANDREW AND MATTHIAS

The work here presented should be considered preliminary. There is a considerable amount of work that could (and should) be done in terms of adding relevant critical notes for the Greek text.

INTRODUCTION

The Acts of Andrew and Matthias is a dramatic story featuring the apostles, Andrew and Matthias (though the identity of the latter is not completely certain, because a different form of the name is used from that most often associated with the Evangelist, Μαθθαιον). In the story, Andrew and Matthias have an adventure in a city of cannibals; it is written as a thriller with various gory details: the pair witness and experience torture and threatened consumption by the cannibals. With the aid of various prayers and miracles, Matthias escapes and Andrew eventually converts the city to Christianity. In his 1924 publication[‡], M.R. James describes the Acts of Andrew and Matthias as, “tale of wonder with no doctrinal purpose.” The narrative is continued in the second part of the work, the Acts of Peter and Andrew.

The Greek text we present here is (essentially) [that of R.A. Lipsius[§]](#), which is itself based on Constantine von Tischendorf’s text, published nearly half a century earlier; in a few instances, we herein use small excerpts of Tischendorf’s text, where Lipsius’ is ‘lacking’. The English text is based on Alexander Walker’s 1891 translation. We have yet to locate a Latin text for the book.

AUTHORSHIP AND DATES

The author of the Acts of Andrew and Matthias is unknown and the date it was written is contested. Scholars of the 19th Century, such as Lipsius, suggested an early date of the 2nd Century CE on the basis that was when the main Acts of Andrew appear to have been written; this is largely considered an older view, however, and more recent scholarly analyses suggest that the episode was an independent tradition. In this view, a 4th/5th Century date is suggested. The original language of the story is uncertain but was probably Koine Greek.

Πράξεις Ἀνδρέου καὶ Ματθεΐα εἰς τὴν πόλιν των ἀνθρωποφάγων

ACTS OF ANDREW & MATTHIAS 1

The Acts of Andrew and Matthias in the City of the Cannibals

¹ About that time, all the apostles had come together to the same place, and shared among themselves the countries, casting lots, in order that each might go away into the part that had fallen to him. ² By lot, then, it fell to Matthias to set out to the country of the cannibals. ³ And the men of that city used neither to eat bread nor to drink wine; but they would eat the flesh of men and would drink their blood. ⁴ Every man, therefore, who came into their city they laid hold of and they gouged out his eyes; and, after taking out his eyes, they gave him a drug to drink, prepared by sorcery and magic; and, from drinking the drug, his heart was altered and his mind became deranged.

ACTS OF ANDREW & MATTHIAS 1

- ¹ Literally translated, the verse ends, 'that each might go to his own place'.
- ² In place of 'cannibals', Walker has 'man-eaters' (as also in the title).
- ³ More literally, 'would eat' and 'would drink' could be read as 'were eating' and 'were drinking'.
- ⁴ Tischendorf and Walker lack 'after taking out his eyes' (μετὰ τὸ ἐξενεγκεῖν αὐτοῦ τοὺς ὀφθαλμούς).

Πραξεις Ανδρεου και Ματθειας 2

ACTS OF ANDREW & MATTHIAS 2

¹ Now, when Matthias, came through the gate of their city, the men of that city laid hold of him, and thrust out his eyes; and, after putting them out, they made him drink the drug of their magical deception, and led him away to the prison, and put beside him grass to eat, and he did not eat it. ² For, when he had partaken of their drug, his heart was not altered, nor his mind deranged; but he kept praying to God, weeping, and saying, "Lord Jesus Christ, for whose sake we have forsaken all things and have followed you, knowing that you are the helper of all who hope in you, attend, then, and behold what they have done to Matthias your servant, how they have made me near to the beasts; for, you are he who knows all things. ³ If, therefore, you have ordained that the wicked men in this city should eat me up, I will not by any means flee from your dispensation. ⁴ Afford to me, therefore, O Lord, the light of my eyes, that at least I may behold what the wicked men in this city have in hand for me; do not forsake me, my Lord Jesus Christ, and do not give me up to this bitter death."

ACTS OF ANDREW & MATTHIAS 2

- ¹ Walker opens, "Matthias then having come into the gate of their city."
- ² In place of 'beasts', Walker has 'brutes'.
- ³ Throughout his work, Walker capitalizes pronouns that refer to God.
- ⁴ Walker has 'then' in place of 'therefore'.

ACTS OF ANDREW & MATTHIAS 3

¹ While Matthias was thus praying in the prison, a light shone, and there came forth out of the light a voice saying, "Beloved Matthias, receive your sight." ² And, immediately, he received his sight. ³ And, again, there came forth a voice saying, "Be strong, our Matthias, and do not be dismayed; for, I shall not by any means forsake you; ⁴ for, I shall deliver you from all danger; and not only you, but also all your brothers who are with you; for, I am with you always and forever. ⁵ But remain here 27 days for the edification of many souls; and, after that, I shall send forth Andrew to you, and he shall lead you forth out of this prison; and not you only, but also all who hear." ⁶ Having said this, the Saviour said again to Matthias, "Peace be with you, our Matthias," and he went into heaven. ⁷ Then Matthias, having beheld him, said to the Lord, "Let your grace abide with me, O my Lord Jesus." ⁸ Then Matthias, therefore, sat down in the prison, and was singing. And it came to pass that, when the executioners came

ACTS OF ANDREW & MATTHIAS 3

- ¹ A more literal translation for 'receive your sight' is 'look up'.
- ² Another (more literal) reading is, "And he looked straight ahead."
- ³ In place of 'be strong', Walker has 'be of good courage'.
- ⁴ Walker has 'everywhere and at all times' in place of 'always and forever'; and he has 'twenty-seven' in place of the numeral, here following the Greek text (κζ').
- ⁵ One could add 'you' after 'hear'.
- ⁶ Walker has 'to you' in place of 'with you'.
- ⁷ Throughout his work, Walker capitalizes pronouns that refer to God.
- ⁸ In place of 'was singing', Walker has 'sang'. Lipsius lacks the paragraph break, here following Tischendorf.

into the prison to bring forth the men to eat them, Matthias also shut his eyes, that they might not behold that he saw. ⁹ And the executioners, having come to him, read the ticket in his hand, and said among themselves, “Yet three days, and we shall bring out this one also from the prison, and slay him.” ¹⁰ Because, in the case of every man whom they laid hold of, they noted that day on which they laid hold of him, and tied a ticket to his right hand, that they might know the completion of the thirty days.

⁹ The translation, ‘ticket’ (following Walker), is uncertain but the meaning is clear.

¹⁰ Here, the Greek text spell out ‘thirty’ as a word (τριάκοντα) – cf. #4.

ACTS OF ANDREW & MATTHIAS 4

¹ And it happened, when 27 days were over since Matthias was seized, the Lord appeared in the land where Andrew was teaching and said to him, "Rise up, and set out with your disciples to the land of the cannibals, and bring forth Matthias out of that place; for yet three days, and the men of the city will bring him forth and slay him for their food." ² And Andrew answered and said, "My Lord, I shall not be able to accomplish the journey there before the limited period of the three days; but send your angel quickly, that he may bring him out thence; for, you know, Lord, that I also am flesh, and shall not be able to go there quickly, but I don't even know the way." ³ And he said to Andrew, "Listen to him who made you, who has the power and authority to say a word and that city shall be removed from there, and all who dwell in it. ⁴ For, I command the horns of the winds, and they will drive it from there. ⁵ But rise up early, and go down to the sea with your disciples, and you shall find a boat upon the shore, and you shall go aboard with your disciples." ⁶ And having said this, the Saviour again said, "Peace to you, Andrew, along with those with you!" And he ascended into heaven.

ACTS OF ANDREW & MATTHIAS 4

- ¹ Walker spells out 'twenty-seven' in place of the numeral, here following the Greek text (κζ').
- ² Tischendorf and Walker lack 'but I don't even know the way' (ἀλλ' οὐδὲ ἐπίσταμαι τὴν ὁδόν).
- ³ Walker opens with 'Obey' in place of 'Listen to'.
- ⁴ Walker lacks 'will' before 'drive'.
- ⁵ In place of the abbreviated form, ἀλλ', Tischendorf opens with ἀλλὰ.
- ⁶ For the last sentence, Walker reads, "And he went into the heavens."

¹ And Andrew, having risen early in the morning, proceeded to the sea along with his disciples; and, having come down to the shore, he saw a small boat, and in the boat three men with him sitting. ² For, the Lord by his own power had prepared a boat, and he it was in human shape a pilot in the boat; and he brought two angels whom he made to appear like men, and they were in the boat sitting. ³ Andrew, therefore, having beheld the boat, and the three men who were in it, rejoiced with exceeding great joy; and having gone to them, he said, "Where are you going, brothers, with this small boat?" ⁴ And the Lord answered and said to him, "We are going to the country of the cannibals." ⁵ And Andrew, having beheld Jesus, did not recognise him; for, Jesus was hiding his Divinity and he appeared to Andrew like a pilot. ⁶ And Jesus, having heard Andrew saying, "I too am going to the country of the cannibals," said to him, "Every man avoids that city, and how are you going there?" ⁷ And Andrew answered and

Jesus, not knowing that it was Jesus, “Brother, may the Lord give you heavenly bread out of his kingdom. Allow me, brother; ¹⁰ for, you see the children, that they are troubled because of the sea.” ¹¹ And Jesus answered and said to Andrew, “Truly, the brothers are inexperienced at sea; but inquire of them whether they want to go to land, and yourself to remain, until you shall finish your business, and again come back to them.” ¹² Then Andrew said to his disciples, “My children, do you wish to go to the land, and me to remain here until I shall finish my business for which I have been sent?” ¹³ And they answered and said to Andrew, “If we leave you, may we become strangers to the good things that the Lord has provided for us. ¹⁴ Now, we are with you, wherever you may go.”

¹⁰ Walker has ‘distressed’ in place of ‘troubled’.

¹¹ In place of ‘inexperienced at sea’, Walker has ‘without experience of the sea’.

¹³ Andrew’s disciples are firm in their commitment to his mission.

¹⁴ Tischendorf has δ’ ἂν in place of δᾶν – the meaning is the same.

ACTS OF ANDREW & MATTHIAS 8

¹ Jesus answered and said to Andrew, "If you are truly a disciple of him who is called Jesus, tell your disciples the miracles that your Teacher did, that their soul may rejoice, and that they may forget the fear of the sea; for, behold, we are going to take the boat off from the land." ² And, immediately, Jesus said to one of the angels, "Release the boat;" ³ and he released the boat from the land. ⁴ And Jesus came, sat down beside the helm, and steered the boat. ⁵ Then Andrew exhorted and comforted his disciples, saying, "My children, who have given up your life to the Lord, fear not; for, the Lord will not at all forsake us forever. ⁶ For, at that time when I was alone with our Lord, we went on board the boat with him, and he lay down to sleep in the boat, trying us; for, he was not fast asleep. ⁷ And, a great wind having arisen, and the sea being stormy, so that the waves were uplifted, and came under the sail of the boat, and when we were in great fear, the Lord stood up and rebuked the winds, and there was a calm in the sea; for, all things feared him, as

ACTS OF ANDREW & MATTHIAS 8

- ³ Walker has 'Let go' in place of 'Released'.
- ⁴ In place of 'helm', Walker has 'rudder'.
- ⁵ Walker has 'forsake you' in place of 'forsake us' (Tischendorf reads καταλείψει for καταλείψη).

⁸ Here, Tischendorf also reads ἐγκαταλείψει for ἐγκαταλίπη (cf. #5).

⁹ Another reading for ‘prayed’ is ‘wished’ (but cf. v. 10).

¹⁰ In place of ‘while’, Walker has ‘as’.

ACTS OF ANDREW & MATTHIAS 9

¹ And Andrew, turning round to the Lord, not knowing that it was the Lord, said to him, "Tell me, O man, and show me the skill of your steering; for, I have never seen any man so steering in the sea as I now see you. ² For sixteen years have I sailed the sea, and behold this is the seventeenth, and I have not seen such skill; for, truly the boat is just as if on land. ³ Show me then, young man, your skill." ⁴ Then Jesus answered and said to Andrew, "We also have often sailed the sea and been in danger; but, since you are a disciple of him called Jesus, the sea recognised you as righteous, and has become calm, and has not lifted its waves against the boat." ⁵ Then Andrew cried out with a loud voice, saying, "I bless you, my Lord Jesus Christ, that I have met a man who glorifies your name."

ACTS OF ANDREW & MATTHIAS 9

- ¹ Throughout his work, Walker capitalizes pronouns that refer to Jesus.
- ² Before he was called as a disciple, Andrew was a fisherman on the Sea of Galilee.
- ³ Another possible (though unlikely) reading is, "Show me your skill, which has rejuvenated me."
- ⁴ In place of 'recognized you as righteous', Waker has 'has recognised you that you are righteous'.
- ⁵ Walker has 'thank' in place of 'bless'.

For, He made the heaven, and the earth, and the sea, and all that is in them." ⁵ And Jesus answered and said, "How then did the Jews not believe him? Perhaps he did not perform signs before them?" ⁶ Andrew said, "Have you not heard of the mighty works that he did before them? ⁷ He made the blind see, the lame walk, the deaf hear; he cleansed lepers, he changed water into wine; and, having taken five loaves and two fishes, he made a crowd recline on the grass; and, having blessed, he gave them to eat; ⁸ and those that ate were five thousand men, and they were filled; and they took up what was over to them twelve

- ¹ Walker, following Tischendorf, opens, "And Jesus said, 'O Andrew, tell me...' (reading ὦ Ἀνδρέᾳ in place of τῷ Ἀνδρέᾳ).
- ² In place of 'Divinity', Walker has 'Godhead'.
- ³ Throughout his work, Walker capitalizes pronouns that refer to Jesus.
- ⁴ Lipsius expresses some doubt about the transcription of the word, ἐν, (after τὰ, here following Tischendorf) and reads '.. (with an 'empty' psili).
- ⁵ Walker has 'do miracles' in place of 'perform signs'.
- ⁶ In place of 'mighty works', Walker has 'miracles'.

ACTS OF ANDREW & MATTHIAS 11

¹ And Andrew answered and said, "No, brother, he did them also before the chief priests, not only openly, but also in secret, and they did not believe him." ² Jesus answered and said, "What are the miracles that he did in secret? Disclose them to me." ³ And Andrew answered and said, "O man, who has the spirit of inquisitiveness, why do you tempt me?" ⁴ And Jesus answered and said, "I do not tempt you by saying this, you disciple of him called Jesus; but my soul rejoices and exults; and not only mine but also every soul that hears the wonders of Jesus." ⁵ And Andrew answered and said, "O child, the Lord shall fill your soul with all joy and all good, as you have persuaded me now to relate to you the miracles that our Lord did in secret."

ACTS OF ANDREW & MATTHIAS 11

- ¹ Throughout his work, Walker capitalizes pronouns that refer to Jesus.
- ² Tischendorf does not capitalize the opening alpha.
- ³ In place of 'tempt me', Walker has 'put me to the test' (and similarly in v. 4).
- ⁴ Walker has 'O disciple', in place of 'you disciple'.
- ⁵ Lipsius expresses some doubt about the transcription of the word, ἐν, and reads ἀπαγγ...; here, we follow Tischendorf.

ACTS OF ANDREW & MATTHIAS 12

¹ It happened as we, the twelve disciples, were going with our Lord into a temple of the Gentiles, so he might make known to us the ignorance of the devil, that the chief priests, having seen us following Jesus, said to us, “O wretches, why do you walk with him who says, “I am the Son of God?” ² Does God have a son? ³ Who among you has ever seen God even speak to a woman? ⁴ Is not this the son of Joseph the carpenter, and his mother is Mary, and his brothers James and Simon?” ⁵ And, when we heard these words, our hearts converted to weakness. ⁶ And Jesus, having known that our hearts were giving way, took us into a desert place, and did great miracles before us, and displayed to us all his Divinity. ⁷ And we spoke to the chief priests, saying, “You come also, and see; for, behold, he has persuaded us.”

ACTS OF ANDREW & MATTHIAS 12

- ¹ Throughout his work, Walker capitalizes pronouns that refer to Jesus.
- ² Walker reads, “Do you mean to say that God has a son?”
- ³ For this verse, Walker reads, “Which of you has ever at any time seen God associating with a woman?”
- ⁴ Questions starting with μὴ in Greek generally anticipate a negative answer but it is difficult to express this question in English so that it does.
- ⁵ In place of μετεστράφησαν (converted), Tischendorf has ἐστράφησαν (turned).
- ⁶ Walker has ‘Godhead’ in place of ‘Divinity’.
- ⁷ Walker opens the apostles’ reply with, “Come you also.”

ACTS OF ANDREW & MATTHIAS 13

¹ And the chief priests having come, went with us; and, when we had gone into the temple of the Gentiles, Jesus showed us the nature of the heaven, that we might know whether the things were true or not. ² And there went in along with us thirty men of the people and four chief priests. ³ And Jesus, having looked on the right hand and on the left of the temple, saw two sculptured sphinxes, one on the right and one on the left. ⁴ And Jesus having turned to us, said, "Behold the sign of the heaven; for, these are like the cherubim and the seraphim that are in heaven." ⁵ Then Jesus looked at the sphinx on the right and said to it, "I say to you, you image of that which is in heaven, which the hands of craftsmen have sculptured, be separated from your place, and come down, and answer and convict the chief priests, and show them whether I am God or man."

- ¹ Tischendorf and Walker lack τύπον τοῦ ('nature of the'), here following Lipsius.
- ² In the Greek text of this verse, the numbers are spelled out as words.
- ³ The word translated 'sphinxes' is σφίγγας.
- ⁴ In place of 'the heaven' (τοῦ οὐρανοῦ), Tischendorf and Walker have 'the cross' (τοῦ σταυροῦ).
- ⁵ Walker opens, "Then Jesus, having looked to the right, where the sphinx was, said to it."

¹ And, immediately, at that very time, the sphinx removed from its place and, having assumed a human voice, said, “O foolish sons of Israel, not only has the blinding of their own hearts not been enough for them, but they also wish others to be blind like themselves, saying that God is man, ² who in the beginning fashioned man, and put his breath into all, who gave motion to those things which moved not; ³ he it is who called Abraham, who loved his son Isaac, who brought back his beloved Jacob into his land; he is the Judge of living and dead; ⁴ he it is who prepares great benefits for those who obey him, and prepares punishment for those who do not believe in him. ⁵ Do not judge that I am an idol that can be handled; for, I say to you that the sacred places of your synagogue are more excellent. ⁶ For, though we are stones, the priests have given us only the name of a god; ⁷ and those priests who serve the temple purify themselves, being afraid of the demons; for, if they go into women, they purify themselves for seven days, because of their fear, so that they do not come into the temple

- ¹ Tischendorf lacks τὸν before θεόν.
- ² Tischendorf lacks the opening οὗτός ἐστιν.
- ³ Throughout his work, Walker capitalizes pronouns that refer to God/Jesus.
- ⁴ Walker lacks ‘in’ before the terminal ‘him’.
- ⁵ In place of ψήφινον, Tischendorf has ψηλαφητὸν.
- ⁶ Tischendorf has very similar text for this verse.
- ⁷ For ‘go into’, Walker has ‘have had intercourse with’.

ACTS OF ANDREW & MATTHIAS 15

¹ And we said to the chief priests, "They are worthy to be believed; for, even the stones have spoken the truth to you, and they have shamed you." ² And the chief priests of the Jews answered, "See and know that this stone speaks by magic; do not think that it is a god. ³ For, if you test what he said to you, it will come to pass; for, you heard the stone say, "This is he who spoke with Abraham." ⁴ Where did this man find Abraham or see him? ⁵ For, Abraham is not many years old ... this man was born; and where does this man believe in Abraham?" ⁶ And Jesus turned again to the sphinx and said to it, "Why do they not believe that I spoke with Abraham? ⁷ But go into the land of the Canaanites, and come to the cave that is before the plain of Mamre, where the body of Abraham is." And there was a voice from the sepulchre, saying, "Abraham, Abraham, your body is in the sepulchre, and your soul is in paradise." Thus said he that created man from the beginning, who made you his friend: Rise up now, and take your sons Isaac and Jacob, and come into the high

ACTS OF ANDREW & MATTHIAS 15

- ¹ For this chapter, Tischendorf and Walker have very different (and rather shorter); for this verse, their texts are similar.
- ² Tischendorf and Walker lack 'the chief priests of'.
- ³ Tischendorf and Walker lack, "This I he who spoke with Abraham."
- ⁴ For this verse, Walker reads, "For, where did he find Abraham, or how did he see him?"
- ⁵ The ellipsis in the text (and translation) follows Lipsius.
- ⁶ Lipsius' text lacks the word, 'not', but it clearly should be included in the translation; Walker (following Tischendorf) has, "Because these do not believe that I have spoken with Abraham."
- ⁷ In place of 'high places', Walker has 'temples'.

⁸ Walker has ‘in the presence of’ in place of ‘before’.

⁹ Note the feminine pronouns referring to the sphinx.

¹⁰ Tischendorf and Walker have similar text for this verse.

¹¹ Those who returned to the tomb to sleep were (presumably) the 12 sons of Jacob.

¹² The ‘three patriarchs’ are (obviously), Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob.

¹³ In place of ‘to the patriarchs’, Tischendorf and Walker have ‘to them’.

¹⁴ Walker has ‘image’ in place of ‘sphinx’.

¹⁵ Tischendorf and Walker lack this verse.

¹⁶ Tischendorf and Walker lack ‘brother’ (ἀδελφέ).

ACTS OF ANDREW & MATTHIAS 16

¹ Then Jesus, knowing that the ship was about to draw near to the land, bowed his head to one of his angels and fell silent and stopped speaking to Andrew. And Andrew, seeing this, bowed his head to one of his disciples and woke him up. ² Then Jesus, knowing that Andrew had awakened him, said to his angels, "Lay down your hands and seize Andrew and his disciples, and go and lay them outside the gate of the city of the cannibals; and, having cast them on the ground, return to me." ³ And the angels did as Jesus commanded them, and they found Andrew and his disciples sitting down; and, lifting them up into the air, they carried them out to the gate of the city of the cannibals. ⁴ And, leaving them, the angels returned to Jesus; and, after this, Jesus ascended into heaven with his angels.

ACTS OF ANDREW & MATTHIAS 16

- ¹ Tischendorf opens with Ὅτε δὲ ἔμελλε in place of Τότε γνούς ὁ Ἰησοῦς ὅτι ἔμελλεν.
² Tischendorf and Walker lack 'knowing that Andrew had awakened him'.
³ Tischendorf and Walker lack the text of this verse from 'and they found'.
⁴ Tischendorf and Walker lack 'leaving them'.

ACTS OF ANDREW & MATTHIAS 17

¹ And, when it was morning, Andrew, having awakened and looked up, found himself sitting on the ground by the gate of the city; ² and, looking around, he saw his disciples sleeping on the ground; and he woke them up and said to them, "Rise up, my children, and know the great dispensation that has happened to us, and learn that the Lord was with us in the boat, and we did not know him; ³ for, he transformed himself as if he were a pilot in the boat, and humbled himself, and appeared to us as a man, putting us to the test." ⁴ And Andrew, recovering himself, said, "Lord, I recognised your excellent words, but you did not reveal yourself to me; and, because of this, I did not know you." ⁵ And his disciples answered and said to him, "Father Andrew, do not think that we knew when you were speaking with him in the boat; for, we were weighed down by a most heavy sleep; and eagles came down out of the heavens, and lifted up our souls, and took them away into the paradise, which is in the heavens, and we saw great wonders. ⁶ For, we saw our Lord Jesus sitting on a throne of glory, and all the angels round about

ACTS OF ANDREW & MATTHIAS 17

¹ Tischendorf and Walker lack τὴν πύλην τῆς πόλεως ἐκείνης ('by the gate of the city').

² In place of 'looking around', Walker has 'having looked'.

³ Throughout his work, Walker capitalizes pronouns that refer to Jesus.

⁴ Walker has 'manifest' in place of 'reveal'.

⁵ In place of 'which is in the heavens', Walker has 'in heaven'.

⁶ Walker has 'beheld' in place of 'saw'.

¹ In place of ‘hearing this’, Walker has ‘having heard’.

² Walker has ‘Appear’ in place of ‘Show yourself’.

³ Walker opens with ‘Pardon’ in place of ‘Forgive’.

⁴ In place of ‘reveal’, Walker has ‘manifest’.

⁵ Lipsius does not have this paragraph break, here following Tischendorf.

⁶ The exact translation of the word, ἡμέτερε, is uncertain.

⁷ Walker has ‘Pardon’ in place of ‘Forgive’.

⁸ In place of ‘reveal’, Walker has ‘manifest’.

⁹ Throughout the book, Walker has ‘man-eaters’ in place of ‘cannibals’.

Andrew, “You have not sinned, but I did this to you because you said, “I shall not be able to go to the city of the cannibals in three days;” ¹⁰ and I showed you that I can appear to everyone as I wish. ¹¹ Now, therefore, rise up, go into the city to Matthias, and bring him forth out of the prison, and all the strangers that are with him. ¹² For, behold, I show you, Andrew, what you must suffer before going into this city. They will heap on you tortures and insults, and they will scatter your flesh in the ways and the streets, and your blood shall flow to the ground; they will not be able to put you to death but will cause you many sorrows; ¹³ But endure, brother Andrew, and do not act according to their unbelief. ¹⁴ Remember how my soul endured many afflictions, when they struck me and spat in my face and said, “By Beelzebub he casts out demons.” ¹⁵ Was it not possible for me to shake heaven and earth with the twinkling of an eye against those who sinned against me? ¹⁶ But I endured and forgave, ¹⁰ Before ‘appear’, Walker adds ‘am able to do all things and’.

¹¹ The use of the word, ‘strangers’, here is unusual.

¹² Walker lacks ‘but will cause you many sorrows’.

¹³ For vv. 13–17, Tischendorf and Walker have a very much shorter text: but endure, just as you saw me beaten, insulted, and crucified; for, there are those who are destined to believe in this city. (ἀλλ’ ὑπόμεινον, καθὼς ἐμὲ οἶδας τυπτόμενον ὑβριζόμενον καὶ σταυρούμενον· εἰσὶν γὰρ μέλλοντες πιστεύειν ἐν τῇ πόλει ταύτῃ.)

¹⁴ Cf. Mt 12:24, Mk 3:22.

¹⁵ Greek questions starting with μή (‘Was it not...’) are common.

¹⁶ Tischendorf’s text has no hint of this verse.

¹⁷ At the end of this verse, Tischendorf's text is similar to Lipsius'.

¹⁸ Walker ends, 'went into the heavens'.

¹⁰ The number, ‘twenty-seven’, is here spelled out in full in the Greek text (εἴκοσιεπτὰ – cf. 3:4 & 4:1, where κζ’ is used).

¹¹ For this verse, Tischendorf and Walker read: And now, behold, it has come to pass as the Lord said. (καὶ νῦν ἰδοὺ καθὼς εἶπεν ὁ κύριος γέγονεν.)

¹² Tischendorf (and Walker) completely omits this verse.

ACTS OF ANDREW & MATTHIAS 20

¹ Then Andrew, looking around inside the prison, saw the men locked up naked and eating grass like wild animals; and Andrew, feeling remorse, said to himself, "Oh, Andrew, pay attention and see what your fellow humans are suffering, how they have come close to being like wild animals." ² And he began to rebuke to Satan, and said to him, "Woe to you, the devil, the enemy of God and his angels, because the strangers here have done you no harm. And how have you brought on them this punishment? ³ How long will you make war against the human race? ⁴ For, from the beginning, you caused Adam to be expelled from paradise, and God made him sow plants on the earth for food. ⁵ You turned his bread on the table into stones; and, again, you entered into the minds of the angels and made them into defiled women, and you made their sons the

² And behold, the devil appeared in the likeness of an old man, and began to say in the midst of all, "Woe to you! Because you are now dying, having no food; ³ what can sheep and oxen do for you? They will not at all be enough for you. ⁴ But rise up and make a search here for one who has come to the city, a stranger named Andrew, and kill him; for, if you do not, he will not permit you to carry on this practice; for, it was he who let loose the men out of the prison. ⁵ For, truly, the man is in this city and you have not seen him. ⁶ Now, therefore, rise and make search for him, in order that, henceforward, you may be able to collect your food."

⁷ And Andrew saw the devil, how he was talking to the multitudes; but the devil did not see the blessed Andrew.

⁸ Then Andrew answered the devil, and said, "O Belial most fiendish, who are the foe of every creature; but my Lord Jesus

² Tischendorf does not capitalize the opening kappa.

³ For vv. 3–4, Lipsius and Tischendorf have identical texts.

⁴ After 'practice', Walker adds 'longer' – the word I redundant in contemporary English.

⁵ Walker opens with 'Assuredly' in place of 'For, truly'.

⁶ Tischendorf has identical text for vv. 5–6.

⁷ Lipsius does not have this paragraph break, here following Tischendorf.

⁸ Tischendorf has near identical text for this verse.

Christ will bring you down to the abyss.” ⁹ And the devil, having heard this, said, “I hear your voice indeed, and I know your voice, but where you are standing I do not know.” ¹⁰ And Andrew answered and said to the devil, “Why, then, have you been called Amael? ¹¹ Is it not because you are blind, not seeing all the saints?” ¹² And the devil, having heard this, said to the citizens, “Look round now for him speaking to me; for, he is the man.” ¹³ And the citizens, having run in different directions, shut the gates of the city, and searched for the blessed one, and did not see him. ¹⁴ Then the Lord showed himself to Andrew, and said to him, “Andrew, rise up and show yourself to them, that they may learn my power, and the powerlessness of the devil working in them.

⁹ Tischendorf does not capitalize the opening kappa.

¹⁰ The use of the ‘angelic’ name, ‘Amael’ (Ἀμαήλ), for the devil is rare.

¹¹ Tischendorf has identical text for this verse.

¹² Tischendorf does not capitalize the opening kappa (as also in v. 13).

¹³ In place of θύρας, Tischendorf has πύλας; both words mean ‘gate(s)’.

¹⁴ Throughout his work, Walker capitalizes pronouns referring to God/Jesus.

ACTS OF ANDREW & MATTHIAS 25

¹ Then Andrew rose up, and said in presence of all, “Behold, I am Andrew whom you seek.” ² And the multitudes ran at him, and laid hold of him, saying, “What you have done to us, we also will do to you.” ³ And they reasoned among themselves, saying, “By what death shall we kill him?” ⁴ And they said to each other, “If we take off his head, his death is no torture to him. ⁵ Others again said that, if we burn him in fire and give his body to our elders to eat, this death is not a torment for him.” ⁶ Then one of them, [the devil] having entered into him and having filled his heart, answered and said to the multitudes, “As he did to us, so we also do to him, and we must give him the most grievous torments. ⁷ Therefore, let us rise up and put a rope around his neck and drag him through all the squares and alleys of the city, day after day, until his last breath. ⁸ And

ACTS OF ANDREW & MATTHIAS 26

¹ But, when morning came, again, they brought him out; and, having fastened a rope round his neck, they dragged him about; and, again, his flesh stuck to the ground, and his blood flowed. ² And the blessed one wept and prayed, saying, "Do not forsake me, my Lord Jesus Christ; ³ But I endure because of your commandment, which you gave to me, saying, "Do not act according to their unbelief." ⁴ See, then, O Lord, what torments they inflict on me; for you, O Lord, know human flesh. ⁵ For, I know, Lord, that you are not far from your servants; but I do not contradict your commandment which I have received. ⁶ But, if not, they will cause them to descend into the abyss with their city. ⁷ But I will not forsake your commandment, which you have given me, until death; for, you are my helper, O Lord; only do not let the enemy rejoice over me." ⁸ And, while the blessed Andrew was saying these things, the devil walked behind and said to the multitudes, "Strike him on the mouth, so that he may not speak."

ACTS OF ANDREW & MATTHIAS 26

- ¹ Tischendorf and Walker open with Καὶ τῇ ἑωθεν ('And, in the morning') in place of Πρωΐας δὲ γενομένης ('But, when morning came').
- ² Tischendorf and Walker have a shorter, very different text for this verse: And the blessed one wept and prayed, saying, "Do not forsake me, my Lord Jesus Christ; (καὶ ἔκλαιεν ὁ μακάριος καὶ ἠΰχετο λέγων Μὴ ἐγκαταλείπης με, κύριέ μου Ἰησοῦ Χριστέ)

- ³ The text for vv. 3–4 is rearranged in Tischendorf's text (and Walker's translation); for this verse, Walker reads: For, You know, Lord, what the fiend has inflicted on me, along with his demons. These tortures are enough, my Lord; [text for v. 4] But remember, Lord, that You were three hours on the cross, and cried out to the Father, "My Father, why have You forsaken me?"

- ⁵ Tischendorf and Walker lack this verse.
- ⁶ Throughout his work, Walker capitalizes pronouns referring to Jesus.
- ⁷ For this verse, Tischendorf and Walker read: Consider, then, Lord, what has become of my flesh, and the hairs of my head. (πρόσσχες οὖν, κύριε, ὅτι αἱ σάρκες μου καὶ αἱ τρίχες τῆς κεφαλῆς μου τί γεγόνασιν.)

Lord, and see that my flesh and the hair of my head have clung to the earth. For, behold, I have been lying here for three days in terrible pain and you have not revealed yourself to me, O Lord, to strengthen my heart. And I have become very weak.” ⁸ Saying this, the blessed Andrew departed. ⁹ Then a voice came to him in Hebrew, saying, “Father Andrew, the heaven and the earth shall pass away, but my words shall not pass away. ¹⁰ Look behind you, Andrew, and see your flesh that has fallen, and your hair, and what has become of them.” ¹¹ And Andrew turned and saw great trees springing up, bearing fruit; and he answered and said, Lord, I know that you will not forsake me.

¹² And, when it was evening, they took him up again, and cast him into the prison, having bound his hands behind his back; and he was exceedingly exhausted. ¹³ And the men of the city said among themselves, “Perhaps he dies in the night, and we do not find him alive on the following day; for, he has become languid and his flesh has wasted away.”

⁸ Tischendorf and Walker lack this verse, the text and meaning of which is unclear.

⁹ Tischendorf and Walker open, “Then Jesus said to Andrew.” (τότε ὁ Ἰησοῦς εἶπε τῷ Ἀνδρέᾳ)

¹⁰ In place of πρόσσχες οὖν (‘Look behind you’), Tischendorf and Walker have στράφου οὖν (‘Turn yourself’).

¹¹ Walker (following Tischendorf – καὶ ἐδόξασε τὸν θεόν) ends with ‘and he glorified God’.

¹² Lipsius does not have this paragraph break, here following Tischendorf.

ACTS OF ANDREW & MATTHIAS 29

¹ And the Lord appeared in the prison and, having stretched out his hand, said to Andrew, "Give me your hand, and rise up whole." ² And Andrew, having beheld the Lord Jesus, gave him his hand, and rose up whole. And, falling down, he worshipped him, and said, "I thank You, my Lord Jesus Christ, that you have speedily brought help to me." ³ And Andrew, having looked into the middle of the prison, saw a pillar standing; and, on the pillar, there stood an alabaster statue. ⁴ And Andrew, having gone up to the statue, unfolded his hands seven times, and said to the pillar, and the statue on it, "Fear the sign of the cross, at which the heaven and the earth tremble; and let the statue set on the pillar bring forth much water through its mouth, like a flood, until all who are in this city are punished." ⁵ Do not be afraid, O stone, and do not say, "I am stone, and am not worthy to praise the Lord." ⁶ For, the Lord made us from the earth, but you are pure. Therefore, God gave his people from among you the tablets of the law; for, he did not write them

- ³ In place of ἐπιστηρίξης ('you will confirm'), Tischendorf has ἐπιστηρίξω ('I will confirm').
- ⁴ Tischendorf and Walker have a somewhat shorter text for this verse: And, after going into this city, you shall proclaim my Gospel and bring up the men who are in the abyss. And you shall do what I command you. (καὶ μετὰ τὸ εἰσελθεῖν σε ἐν τῇ πόλει ταύτῃ, καὶ κηρύξεις τὸ εὐαγγέλιόν μου καὶ ἀνενέγκης τοὺς ἄνδρας τοὺς ἐν τῇ ἀβύσσῳ, καὶ ποιήσεις ἃ σοι ἐντέλλομαι.)
- ⁵ Lipsius does not have this paragraph break, here following Tischendorf.
- ⁶ Tischendorf does not capitalize the opening kappa.

αὐτὸν ἐχάρησαν χαρὰν μεγάλην σφόδρα· καὶ ἐποίησεν ἐκεῖ ἡμέρας ἑπτὰ διδάσκων καὶ ἐπιστηρίζων αὐτοὺς ἐπὶ τὸν κύριον Ἰησοῦν Χριστόν.⁷ καὶ πληρωθειῶν τῶν ἑπτὰ ἡμερῶν ἐγένετο ἐν τῷ ἐκπορεύεσθαι τὸν μακάριον Ἀνδρέαν, συνήχθησαν πάντες ἐπ’ αὐτὸν ἀπὸ παιδίου ἕως πρεσβυτέρου, καὶ προέπεμπον αὐτὸν λέγοντες· Εἷς θεὸς Ἀνδρέου, εἷς κύριος Ἰησοῦς Χριστός, ᾧ ἡ δόξα καὶ τὸ κράτος εἰς τοὺς αἰῶνας. ἀμήν.

with exceeding great joy. And he stayed there seven days, teaching and confirming them in the Lord Jesus Christ.⁷ And the seven days having been fulfilled, it came to pass, while the blessed Andrew was going out, all came together to him, from the child even to the elder, and sent him on his way, saying, “There is one God, the God of Andrew, and one Lord Jesus Christ; to whom be glory and strength forever. Amen.”

⁷ After ‘Jesus Christ’, Walker, following Tischendorf (ὁ ποιῶν θαυμάσια μόνος) adds ‘who alone does wonders’.
