
ΠΕΥΑΓΓΕΛΙΟΝ ΠΚΑΤΑ ΦΙΛΙΠΠΟΣ ∞ THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO PHILIP

INTRODUCTION

The Coptic text of the Gospel of Philip was discovered, along with the other tractates of the Nag Hammadi Library (NHL), in 1945. The work follows on directly (without any extra space of page break) from the more well-known Gospel of Thomas (Codex II, p. 51); however, unlike that work, we have no ‘supporting evidence’ from other sources for this book (as we have the Greek fragments from the Oxyrhynchus papyri for the Gospel of Thomas).

As in the Gospel of Thomas, the influence of Gnostic theology is clearly present, though it is not possible to ascribe the work to any particular school or sect.

The Coptic text presented here text is derived from that of the “Nag Hammadi Library Complete Transcription,” published by Martijn Linssen in 2024. The numeration of the 143 Sayings is not in the manuscript itself but is followed by most scholars today. The English text here presented largely follows that of Mark M. Mattison’s open-source translation but we also include some sections from that of Wesley W. Isenberg. The footnotes draw heavily on those presented on the Metalogos.org website.

AUTHORSHIP AND DATES

The Gospel of Philip is generally dated to the 3rd Century; a work of the name is mentioned by Epiphanius (Against Heresies, 26:13, written in 374/5), who says, speaking of the ‘Gnostics of Egypt’: “They produce a Gospel forged in the name of Philip the holy disciple.” The original language was probably Koine Greek.

§ THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO PHILIP

¹ A Hebrew person habitually creates a Hebrew, and [those] of this kind are called 'a proselyte'. But a [proselyte] does not habitually create (another) proselyte. They are like [...] and they create others [...] it is good enough for them that they shall come into being.

² The slave seeks only freedom; they do not seek their master's property. But the son is not just a son; he claims the inheritance of his father for himself.

³ Those who inherit the dead are themselves dead, and they inherit the dead. Those who inherit the Living-One are themselves alive, and they inherit (both) the Living-One and the dead. The dead cannot inherit anything, because how can the dead inherit? If the dead inherits the Living-One, they will not die, but the dead will live even more!

⁴ A gentile does not die; for, they never lived in order to die. Whoever has believed in the Truth has lived, and is at risk of dying, because they are alive since the day Christ came.

⁵ The world is created, the cities gentrified, and the dead carried out.

§ As is normal for such books, this title only appears at the end of the text; we add it here for clarity.

¹ Mattison lacks 'person' and 'habitually' (the latter twice in this saying).

² Cf. Pr 17:2, Jn 8:32, and GoT 72. In place of 'the inheritance of his father', Mattison has 'his father's inheritance'.

³ Cf. GoT 111. In place of 'Living-One', here following Isenberg, Mattison has 'living' (thrice in this saying).

⁴ Cf. Gn 12:1-3, Is 40:17, Mt 24:9.

⁵ Cf. Gn 4:17, Is 40:17, Rv 18, Lk 9:60.

⁶ When we were Hebrews, we were fatherless – we had (only) our mother. But, when we became Christians, we gained both father and mother.

7 Those who sow in the winter reap in the summer. The winter is the world, the summer the other age. Let us sow in the world, so that we may reap in the summer. Because of this, it is not right for us to pray in the winter. The summer follows the winter. But, if someone reaps in the winter, they will not reap, but uproot, as this kind will not produce fruit [...] it does not just come out [...] but in the other Sabbath [...] it is fruitless.

8 Christ came to buy some, but to save others, and to redeem yet others. He bought those who were strangers, made them his own, and set them apart as a pledge as he wanted to. It was not just when he appeared that he laid down his life when he wanted to, but since the day the world came into being he laid down his life when he wanted to. Then he came first to take it, since it had been pledged. It was dominated by the robbers that had captured it, but he saved it; and those who are good in the world he redeemed, as well as those who are bad.

⁹ The light and the darkness, the right and the left, are brothers of each other. They are inseparable. So, those who ⁶ The Greek term from which ὀρφανός is derived (ὀρφανός) means ‘orphans’ but the corresponding Hebrew/Aramaic word (יתום/יתומא) means only ‘fatherless’.

7 Cf. Mt 6:1-6.

⁸ Cf. Mk 10:45, Jn 10:17-18.

⁹ Cf. Is 45:7, Lm 3:38. In place of 'Thus', Mattison has 'Because of this'.

are good are not good, those who are bad are not bad, nor is life (really) life, nor is death (really) death. Thus, each will be dissolved into its origin from the beginning. But those who are exalted above the world are indissoluble and eternal.

¹⁰ The names that are given to those who are worldly are very deceptive, because they turn the heart away from what is right to what is not right, and someone who hears ‘God’ does not think of what is right but thinks of what is not right. So, also with ‘the Father’, ‘the Son’, ‘the Holy Spirit’, ‘the life’, ‘the light’, ‘the resurrection’, ‘the church’, and all the others – they do not think of [what is right] but think of what is [not] right, [unless] they have learned what is right. The [names that were heard] exist in the world [...] [deceive.
 If they existed] in the (eternal) age they would not have been used as names in the world, nor would they have been placed among worldly things. They have an end in the (eternal) age.

¹¹ There is one name that is not uttered in the world: the name that the Father gave to the Son. It is exalted over everything; it is the Father’s name, because the Son would not have become father unless he had taken the name of the Father.
 Those who have this name know it, but do not say it; and those who do not have it, do not know it. But Truth brought names into the world for us; for, it is impossible for us to learn it without these names.

¹⁰ Cf. Is 5:20.

¹¹ On the 1st part of this saying, cf. GoT 77, on the 2nd part, cf. 1K 19:12.

¹³ The rulers wanted to deceive humanity, because they saw that they had a kinship with those that are truly good. They took the name of those that are good and gave it to those that are not good, in order to deceive them by the names and bind them to those that are not good; and then, what a favour they do for them! They take them from those that are not good and place them among those that are good. They knew what they were doing, because they wanted to take those who were free and place them in slavery forever. There are powers that exist [...] humanity, not wanting them to be [saved], so that they may be [...] because if humanity [was saved], ...

¹⁴ Sacrifices [would not] happen [...] and animals offered up to the powers, because those to whom offerings were made were animals. They were offered up alive, but when they were offered up, they died. A human was offered up to God dead, and he lived.

¹⁵ Before Christ came, there was no bread in the world – just as Paradise, where Adam was, had many trees to feed the animals but no wheat to feed humanity. Humanity used to eat like the animals; but, when Christ, the perfect ¹² Cf. sayings 6, 18, and 40.

¹³ Cf. saying 10 & Is 5:20.

¹⁴ The ‘human’ here is Christ.

¹⁵ NB: επιουσιον in Mt 6:11 – its sole occurrence in all Greek literature – means literally ‘super-substantial’ and thus ‘essential’, not ‘daily’.

human, came, he brought bread from heaven so that humanity would be fed with the food of humanity.

¹⁶ The rulers were thinking that they did what they did by their own power and will, but the Holy Spirit was secretly (all along) accomplishing everything it wanted to through them.

¹⁷ Truth, which has existed from the beginning, is sown everywhere; and many see it being sown, but few see it being reaped.

¹⁸ Some say, “Mary conceived by the Holy Spirit.” They are wrong; they do not know what they are saying. When did a woman ever conceive by a woman? “Mary is the virgin whom no power defiled,” is the great testimony of those Hebrews who became apostles and apostolic (successors).
The virgin whom no power defiled [...] the powers defiled themselves. And the Lord [would not] have said, “my [Father who is in] heaven” unless [he] had another father.
Instead, he would simply have said, [“my Father.”]

¹⁹ The Lord said to the [disciples, “... from] every [house] and bring into the Father’s house, but do not steal (anything) from the Father’s house or carry it away.”

^{20 (a)} ‘Jesus’ is a hidden (or personal) name; ‘Christ’ is a revealed (or common) name. So, ‘Jesus’ is not translated ¹⁶ Here, the word for ‘Spirit’ is given in its standard, abbreviated form (π̄ν̄ᾱ).

¹⁷ Cf. Mt 22:14 & GoT 21.

¹⁸ Cf. Lk 2:48–49, saying 6, and the Odes of Solomon 19:6.

¹⁹ Cf. Jn 14:2.

²⁰ In place of ‘Syriac’, Isenberg has ‘Aramaic’ and, for ‘Ionian’ (following Isenberg), Mattison has ‘Greek’.

in any language, but he is called by his name, 'Jesus'. But the name 'Christ' in Syriac is 'Messiah', and in Ionian 'Ο ΧΡΙΣΤΟΣ', and all the others have 'anointed' according to their own language. ^(b) 'The Nazarene' reveals what is hidden.

²¹ Christ has everything within himself, whether human or angel or mystery, and the Father.

²² Those who say that the Lord died first and then arose are wrong, because he arose first and (then) he died. Anyone who does not first acquire the resurrection will not die. As God lives, that one would [die]!

²³ No one will hide something great and valuable in a great thing, but often someone has put countless thousands into something worth (only) a penny. It is the same with the soul; a valuable thing came to be in a contemptible body.

²⁴ Some are afraid that they will arise naked. So, they want to arise in the flesh, and [they] do not know that those who wear the [flesh] are naked. Those [...] to strip themselves naked [are] not naked.

²⁵ "Flesh [and blood will not] inherit [God's] kingdom." What is it that will not inherit? That which is on us. But what ²² Cf. Lk 20:36, Jn 11:26, GoT 29.

²³ Cf. Gn 3:7, Job 10:11, GoT 29 & 37.
²⁴ Isenberg restores the 2nd sentence to, "These who are made [into light] (by) divesting themselves (of the flesh), are they who are not naked." Cf. Odes of Solomon 25:8.
²⁵ At the start of this saying, Isenberg adds (in parentheses) 'Paul claims that'.

is it, too, that will inherit? It is Jesus' (flesh) and blood. Because of this, he said, "Whoever does not eat my flesh and drink my blood does not have life in them." What is his flesh? It is the Word, and his blood is the Holy Spirit. Whoever has received these have food, drink, and clothing. (So) I myself disagree with the others who say, "It will not arise." Both (sides) are wrong. You who say, "the flesh will not arise," tell me what will arise, so that we may honour you. You say, "the spirit in the flesh and this other light in the flesh." (But) this saying is in the flesh too, because whatever you say, you cannot say apart from the flesh. It is necessary to arise in this flesh, since everything exists in it.

²⁷ ... the visible by the visible, the hidden by the hidden. Some things are hidden by things that are visible.

²⁸ There's water in water, and fire in chrisim.

²⁸ Cf. Mt 3:11.

*revealed himself to them. He [appeared] to [the] great as great. He [appeared] to the small as small. He [appeared] [to the] angels as an angel, and to humans as a human.
So, his Word hid itself from everyone. Some did see him, thinking they were seeing themselves. But, when he appeared to his disciples in glory on the mountain, he was not small. He became great, but he made the disciples great (too) so that they would be able to see him as great.*

³⁰ He said on that day in the Eucharist, “You who have united the perfect light with the Holy Spirit, unite the angels with us too, with the images!”

³¹ Do not despise the lamb, because without him it is impossible to see the door. No one will be able to approach the king naked.

³² The sons of the heavenly human are more numerous than those of the earthly human. If Adam has so many sons, even though they die, how many sons does the perfect human have – those who do not die, but are begotten all the time?

³³ The father makes a son, but it is impossible for a son to make a son, because it is impossible for someone who has been born to beget (sons); the son begets brothers, not sons.

³⁰ Note that, in Hebrew/Aramaic, the word for ‘spirit’ (רוח) is feminine while that for ‘light’ (אור) is masculine.

³¹ Cf. Jn 1:36.

³² Cf. Gn 2:17, Qo 5:16, Jn 1:13, 11:26. Mattison has ‘children’ in place of ‘sons’ (thrice in this saying).

³³ Cf. Ps 2:7, Jn 20:17, GoT 25.

His mother Mary, her sister, and Magdalene, who is called his companion; because Mary is his sister, his mother, and his partner.

³⁷ 'The Father' and 'The Son' are single names; 'the Holy Spirit' is a double name, because they are everywhere. They are in heaven, they are below, they are hidden, and they are revealed. The Holy Spirit is revealed below and hidden in heaven.

³⁸ Those who are holy are served through the evil powers, because the Holy Spirit has blinded them so that they think ³⁴ Cf. Jn 1:12-13. In place of 'the spirit', Mattison has an ellipsis.

³⁵ The point of division between 34 & 35 (both in the translation and in the Coptic text) is not completely clear; there is extensive damage to the MS here and restorations vary considerably.

³⁶ Cf. Mk 3:35 and GoT 101.

they are serving a (regular) human when they are (really) working for the holy ones. So, a disciple asked the Lord one day about a worldly thing. He told him, “Ask your Mother and she will give you from someone else.”

³⁹ The apostles said to the disciples, “May our entire offering acquire salt.” They called [wisdom] ‘salt’. Without it, the offering does not [become] acceptable.

⁴⁰ But Wisdom [is] childless; because of this [she is] called [the Mother], this of salt, the place they will [...] in their own way. [being found by] the Holy Spirit, [the true Mother with] many children.

⁴¹ What belongs to the father belongs to the son, and he himself – the son – as long as he is little, is not entrusted with what is his. When he becomes a man, his father gives him everything that belongs to him.

⁴² Those who have been begotten by the Spirit and go astray, go astray through it too. Because of this, through this one Spirit it blazes, that is, the fire, and it is extinguished.

⁴³ Echamoth is one thing and Echmoth another. Echamoth (in Aramaic) is simply Wisdom (in Greek), but Echmoth is the Wisdom of Death, which knows death. This is called ‘the little Wisdom’.

³⁹ In place of ‘wisdom’, Mattison has an ellipsis.

⁴⁰ For the words in italics, here following Isenberg, Mattison has ellipses.

⁴¹ Cf. saying 2 and GoT 61.

⁴² Cf. Pr 16:4, Is 45:7, Lm 3:38, Jn 19:11.

⁴³ For ‘Echamoth’ and ‘Echmoth’, here following Mattison, Isenberg has ‘Wisdom’ and ‘Death’, respectively.

⁴⁵ [The one who has been] formed [is beautiful, but] you would find his children being noble forms. If he were not formed but begotten, you would find that his seed was noble. But now he was formed, and he begot. What nobility is this?

⁴⁶ First there was adultery and then murder; and he (Cain) was begotten in adultery, because he was the son of the serpent. Because of this he became a murderer like his father too, and he killed his brother (Abel). Every partnership between those who are dissimilar is adultery.

⁴⁴ Cf. Pr 14:4, Jm 3:7, Qo 7:14.

⁴⁵ Cf. Gn 2:7, 4:1.

⁴⁷ God is a dyer. Like the good pigments – they are called permanent – die with what has been dyed in them, so it is with those who were dyed by God. Because his dyes are imperishable, they become immortal by means of his colours. Yet whomever he baptizes, God immerses in an inundation of waters.

⁴⁸ It is impossible for anyone to see anything that really exists unless they become like them. It is not like the person in the world who sees the sun without becoming a sun, and who sees heaven and earth and everything else without becoming them. That is the way it is. But you have seen something of that place and have become them. You saw the Spirit, you became spirit; you saw Christ, you became Christ; you saw [the Father, you] will become father. Because of this, [here] you see everything and do not [see yourself], but you see yourself [there], because you will [become] what you see.

⁴⁹ Faith receives; love gives. [No one can receive] without faith, and no one can give without love. So, we believe so we may receive, but we give so we may love, since anyone who does not give with love does not get anything out of it.

⁵⁰ Whoever has not received the Lord is still a Hebrew.

⁴⁷ In place of ‘permanent’, here following Isenberg, Mattison has ‘true’.

⁴⁸ Cf. Ps 8:3–4.

⁴⁹ Mattison has ‘will be able to’ in place of ‘can’ (twice in this saying).

⁵⁰ Cf. saying 6 and GoT 43.

51 The apostles before us called (him) 'Jesus the Nazarene Messiah', that is, 'Jesus the Nazarene Christ'. The last name is 'Christ', the first is 'Jesus', the middle one is 'the Nazarene'. 'Messiah' has two meanings: 'Christ' and 'the measured'. 'Jesus' in Hebrew is 'redemption'. 'Nazara' is 'truth'. So 'the Nazarene' is 'the truth'. 'Christ' is he who was measured. 'The Nazarene' and 'Jesus' are they who measured.

52 A pearl does not become less valuable if it is cast down into the mud, nor will it become more valuable if it is anointed with balsam; but rather it is of great value to its owner all the time. That is what it is like with the sons of God: no matter where they are, they are still of great value to their Father.

53 If you say, "I am a Jew," no one will be moved. If you say, "I am a Roman," no one will be disturbed. If you say, "I am a Greek," "a Barbarian," "a slave," ["a free person,"] no one will be troubled. [If] you [say,] "I am a Christian," the [...] will tremble. If only [...] of this kind, this one [who ...] will not be able to endure [hearing] his name.

54 God is a human-eater. Because of this, the human is [sacrificed] to him. Before the human was sacrificed, animals were sacrificed, because those to whom they were sacrificed were not gods.

51 Cf. Nb 6:1–8, Jg 13:5, Mt 2:23.

⁵² In place of 'sons of God', Mattison has 'God's children'.

53 Cf. Ac 5:41 and 22:25.

⁵⁵ Vessels of glass and pottery come into being by means of fire. But, if glass vessels break, they are remade, because they came into being by means of a breath; but, if pottery vessels break, they are destroyed, because they came into being without breath.

⁵⁶ A donkey turning a millstone travelled a hundred miles. When it had been released, it still found itself in the same place. There are many people who travel but who make no progress anywhere. When evening came upon them, they saw neither city nor village, nor anything created or natural, nor power nor angel. The wretches worked in vain.

⁵⁷ The Eucharist is Jesus, because in Syriac he is called ‘Pharisatha’, that is, ‘the one who is spread out’, because Jesus came to crucify the world.

⁵⁸ The Lord went into Levi’s place of dyeing. He took seventy-two colours and threw them into the vat. He brought all of them out white and said, “That is the way the Son of Humanity has come [as] a dyer.”

⁵⁹ The wisdom that (humans) call barren is herself the Mother of the Angels. And the companion of the [Christ] is ⁵⁵ Cf. Gn 2:7, Jn 20:22. Ceramics can only be recast before firing: Jr 18:4–10, 19:11.

⁵⁶ Cf. Ps 127:2, Qo 2:11.

⁵⁷ Here, ‘Pharisath’ (φαρῖαθα) transliterates a form of the Aramaic word, פֶּרֶשׁ.

⁵⁸ The LXX version of Gn 10 lists 72 nations in all the world; also, some MSS of Lk 10:1 mention 72 Disciples.

⁵⁹ For this saying, here (loosely) following Isenberg, Mattison reads: The Wisdom who is called ‘the barren’ is the Mother [of the angels] and [the] companion of the [... Mary] Magdalene [... loved her] more than the disciples [... he] kissed her on her [... many] times. The rest of [...] they said to him, “Why do you love her more than all of us?” The Saviour said to them in reply, “Why don’t I love you like her?

Mariam the Magdalene. The [Lord loved] Mariam more than [all the (other)] Disciples, [and he] kissed her often on her [mouth]. The other [women] saw his love for Mariam, they said to him, “Why do you love [her] more than all of us?” || The Saviour replied, saying to them, “Why do I not love you as (I do) her?”

⁶⁰ “When a person who is blind and one who sees are both in the dark, they are no different from one another. When the light comes, the one who sees will see the light, and the one who is blind will remain in the dark.”

⁶¹ The Lord said, “Blessed is the one who exists before coming into being, because they who exist did exist, and will exist.”

⁶² The superiority of humanity is not revealed but exists in what is hidden. So, it masters animals that are stronger, that are greater in terms of that which is revealed and that which is hidden. This allows them to survive; but if humanity separates from them, they kill, bite, and eat each other, because they did not find food. But now they have found food because humanity has worked the earth.

⁶³ If one goes down into the water and comes up without receiving anything, and says, “I am a Christian,” he has taken ⁶⁰ Cf. Jn 9 and GoT 34.

⁶¹ Cf. Rv 1:8 & GoT 19.

⁶² Before ‘masters’, Mattison adds ‘humanity’ in parentheses.

the name on loan. But, if he receives the Holy Spirit, he has the gift of the name. He who receives a gift does not have it taken away, but he who has taken a loan has to pay it back.

⁶⁴ That is what it is like when someone comes into being in a mystery. [The] mystery of marriage [is] great, because [without] it the world would [not exist]; because [the] structure of [the world ...], but the structure [... the marriage]. Think about the [intimate ...] defiled, because it has [...] power. Its image exists in a [defilement].

⁶⁵ The impure spirits take male and female [forms]. The males are those that are intimate with the souls that dwell in a female form, and the females are those that mingle with those in a male form through disobedience. No one will be able to escape being bound by them without receiving a male power and a female one – the groom and the bride – in the image of the bridal chamber. When the foolish females see a male sitting alone, they jump on him, play with him, and defile him. In the same way, when the foolish males see a beautiful female sitting alone, they seduce and coerce her, wanting to defile her. But if they see the husband and his wife sitting together, the females cannot go inside the husband, nor the males inside the wife. That is what it is like when the image unites with the angel; no one will be able to dare to go inside the [male] or the female. Whoever ⁶⁷ Do not fear the flesh, nor love it. If you fear it, it will master you; if you love it, it will swallow and choke you.

⁶⁸ One exists either in this world, or in the resurrection, or in the transitional regions. May it never happen that I should be found there! There is both good and evil in this world. Its good things are not good, and its evil things are not evil. But there is an evil after this world which is truly evil: that which is called ‘the transition’. It is death. While we are in this world, it is right for us to acquire the resurrection for ourselves, so that when we are stripped of the flesh we shall be found in the rest and not travel in the middle, because many stray on the way. It is good to come out of the world before one sins.

⁶⁶ Cf. Mk 1:39. Mattison does not include the opening ‘Frequently’, here following Isenberg.

⁶⁷ Cf. Ps 56:4, Jn 6:63.

⁶⁸ In place of ‘transitional regions’, here following Isenberg, Mattison has ‘middle places’.

⁶⁹ There are some who neither want to nor can, but others who, if they wanted to, (still) would not benefit, because they did not act. The wanting makes them sinners. But (even) if they do not want, justice will (still) be hidden from them. It is not the will and it is not the act.

⁷⁰ An Apostle saw in a vision some who were confined in a house of fire, crying out [in the] air with a fiery [voice], cast in the flames [for an era]. There is water in [...], and they proclaim to themselves: [...] The waters can[not] save us [from death! Misled by] their desire, they received [death as] chastisement – what is called the [outermost] darkness.

71 The soul and the spirit came into being from water and fire. The offspring of the bridal chamber was from water and fire and light. The fire is the chrism; the light is the fire. I am not talking about that formless fire, but of the other one whose form is white, which is bright and beautiful, and which gives beauty.

72 Truth did not come into the world naked, but it came in types and images. It will not receive it any other way. There is a rebirth and an image of rebirth. It is truly necessary to be born again through the image. What is the resurrection and the image? Through the image, it is necessary for it to arise.

⁶⁹ Cf. a proverb from Hsün Tzu, (China, 3rd Century BCE): An inferior man can become a superior man, but he does not want to.

⁷⁰ The text of this saying is very poorly preserved; the extended restorations (in green) follow Till's facsimile (Walter C. Till, Das Evangelium nach Philippos, Berlin: Walter de Gruyter & Co, 1963) and the translation follows Isenberg.

71 Cf. Is 43:2.

⁷² Cf. Is 30:21, Ac 3:21, Jn 3: 'spiritual rebirth' is not the same as 'corporeal resurrection'.

The bridal chamber and the image? Through the image, it is necessary for them to enter the truth, which is the restoration. It is not only necessary for those who acquire the name of the Father and the Son and the Holy Spirit, but they too have been acquired for you. Whoever does not acquire them, the name will also be taken from them. But they are received in the chrism of the [...] of the power of the cross. The apostles called this '[the] right and the left', because this person is no longer a [Christian] but a Christ.

⁷³ The Lord [did] everything in a mystery: a baptism, a chrism, a Eucharist, a redemption, a [holy] bridal chamber [...]

⁷⁴ (a) He [said], "I came to make [the below] like the [above and the outside] like the [inside, and to unite] them in the place." He spoke of] everything in that place, which is there [above] this place, by means of symbolic [images....] (b) Those who say, "[I am a Christian] there is one above [...]" they are wrong, (c) because] what is revealed is that [...], that [which] is called 'what is below', and what is hidden is to it what is above it, because it is good, and they say, "inside and what is outside and what is outside the outside." So, the Lord called destruction 'the outer darkness'. There is nothing outside it. He said, "My Father who is hidden." He said, "Enter your closet, shut the door behind you, and pray to your Father who is hidden,” that is, the one who is within all of them. But the one who is within all of them is the fullness. Beyond that, there is nothing else within. This is what is called ‘that which is above them’.

⁷⁵ Before Christ, some came from where they were no longer able to enter, and they went where they were no longer able to come out. Then Christ came. He brought out those who entered and brought in those who went out.

⁷⁶ When Eve was [in] Adam, death did not exist. When she separated from him, death came into being. If he [enters] again and receives it for himself, there will be no death.

He said this on the cross, because he was divided in that place. [...] that he was begotten through that which [...] from ⁷⁸ The [Lord arose] from among the dead. [He became (again)] as he had been, but [his body] was made [entirely] perfect. He is incarnate, but this [flesh is indeed] a true flesh.

[Yet our flesh] is not true, but rather a mirror-image of the true [flesh].

⁷⁹ A bridal chamber is not for the animals, nor for the slaves, nor for the impure, but it is for free people and virgins.

⁸⁰ We are born again through the Holy Spirit, but we are born through Christ by two things. We are anointed through the Spirit. When we were born, we were united.

⁸¹ Without light, no one can see himself in water or in a mirror; nor again will you be able to see in light without water or mirror. Because of this, it is necessary to baptize in both: in the light and in the water, but the light is the chrism.

⁸² There were three houses of offering in Jerusalem. The one which opens to the west is called 'the Holy'. The other one, which opens to the south, is called 'the Holy of the Holy'. The third, which opens to the east, is called 'the Holy of the Holies', the place where the high priest enters alone. Baptism is 'the Holy' house. [Redemption] is 'the Holy of the Holy'. 'The [Holy] of the Holies' is the bridal chamber. The [baptism] includes the resurrection [with] the redemption. The redemption is in the bridal chamber. But [the] bridal chamber is better than [...] You will not find its [...]

⁸³ [The saints] are those who pray [always for] Jerusalem [and love] Jerusalem; they [are already in] Jerusalem (and) they see [Jerusalem now.] These are called 'the saints of the holiness'.

⁸⁰ Mattison has 'begotten' in place of 'born' (thrice in this saying).

⁸⁵ The powers cannot see those who have put on the perfect light, and they cannot bind them. But one will put on that light in the mystery of the union.

⁸⁶ If the female had not separated from the male, she would not have died with the male. His separation was the start of death. So, Christ came to repair the separation that existed since the beginning by uniting the two again. He will give life to those who died in the separation by uniting them. Now, the wife unites with her husband in the bridal chamber, and those who have united in the bridal chamber will not be separated any longer. Thus, Eve separated from Adam, because she did not unite with him in the bridal chamber.

⁸⁷ The soul of Adam came into being by a Spirit, whose mate is the [Christ. The Spirit] bestowed upon (Adam) is his Mother, and [...] her place was given to him in his soul. (Yet) because he had [not yet] been mated in the Logos, the dominant powers bewitched him. [... Yet those who] unite

⁸⁸ Jesus appeared [... the] Jordan, the [fullness of the kingdom] of heaven. He who [was begotten] before everything was begotten again. He [who was anointed] first was anointed again. He who was redeemed, redeemed again.

⁸⁹ If it is necessary to tell a mystery: the Father of everything united with the virgin who came down, and a fire enlightened him on that day. He revealed the great bridal chamber, so his body came into being on that day. He came out of the bridal chamber like the one who came into being from the groom and the bride. That is how Jesus established everything within himself. It is also necessary for each of the disciples to enter into his rest through these things.

⁹⁰ Adam came into being from two virgins: from the Spirit and from the virgin earth. Therefore, Christ was begotten from a virgin, to rectify the fall that occurred in the beginning.

⁹² God makes the human, [... humans] make [God]. That is what it is like in the world: humans make gods and worship their creation. It would be better for the gods to worship humans!

⁹³ [Thus,] the real truth is that the work of humankind comes from their power, so they are called 'the powers'.
 Their works are their children, who come into being through rest; therefore, their power exists in their works, but the rest is revealed in their children. And you will find that this extends to the image. And this is the person in the image: they do their works through their power, but they beget their children through rest.

⁹⁵ The contemplation [of the images is awareness] in greatness of glory. [Truly there is immortality] within those in the [Holy Bridal-Chamber, who receive] the glories of those who [are fulfilled].

⁹⁶ He who goes down] to the water does not [...] go down to death, [... for] (Christ) shall atone him [once he has come] forth – namely those who were [called to be fulfilled] in his Name. For he says:
[Thus,] we shall fulfil all righteousness.

⁹⁷ Those who say they will die first and then they will rise are wrong. If they do not first receive the resurrection while they live, they will receive nothing when they die. It is the same when they talk about baptism and they say, “Baptism is great;” for, those who receive it will live.

⁹⁸ Philip the apostle said, “Joseph the carpenter planted a garden because he had need of wood for his trade.
He himself made the cross from the trees that he had planted, and his offspring hung from what he planted. His offspring was Jesus, and the plant was the cross.” But the Tree of Life is in the middle of Paradise and, from the heart of olive tree, came the chrism and, through that, came the resurrection.

⁹⁹ This world devours corpses. Furthermore, all that are eaten in it die themselves. Truth [or true person] eats life, so no one nourished by [Truth] shall die. Jesus came from within that place, and he brought food nourishment there, and to those who wanted, he gave them [to eat, so that] they will not die.

¹⁰⁰ God [created] a garden-paradise. Mankind [lived in the] garden, [... but] they were not in the [...] of God in [...] their hearts' [...] given desire. [...] This garden [is the place] where it will be said to me: [Thou may eat] this or not eat [this, according to thy] desire. This is the place (where) I shall consume every different (thing) – there, where is the tree of knowledge which slew Adam. Yet (in) this place, the tree of knowledge gave life to mankind. The Torah was the tree. It has (the) capability in itself to bestow the knowledge of good and evil. It neither cured him of the evil nor preserved him in the good, but rather it caused those who had ingested it to die. For death originated because of (the Torah's) saying: "Eat this, but do not eat (that)!"

¹⁰¹ The chrism is better than baptism, as we are called 'Christians' for the chrism, not for baptism. And it was for the chrism that Christ was named; for, the Father anointed the Son, and the Son anointed the apostles, and the apostles anointed us. Whoever is anointed has everything: the resurrection, the light, the cross, the Holy Spirit. The Father gave this to him in the bridal chamber and he received it.

102 The Father was in the Son and the Son in the Father. This is [the kingdom] of heaven.

103 Excellently did the Lord say: Some have attained the Sovereignty of the Heavens laughing, and they came forth [rejoicing from the world]. The Christian [...] who went down into the water immediately came forth as master over everything; because [he did not consider (the Baptism) a] game, but rather he disdained this [changing world for] the Sovereignty of the Heavens. If he disdains (the world) and scorns it as a game, he [shall] come forth laughing.

104 It is the same way with the bread and the cup and the oil, though there is one better than these.

105 The world came into being through a transgression, because the one who created it wanted to create it imperishable and immortal. He fell away and did not get what he wanted, because the world was not imperishable, and the one who created it was not imperishable; because things are not imperishable, but rather children. Nothing will be able to receive imperishability without becoming a child. But whoever cannot receive, how much more will they be unable to give?

106 The cup of prayer has wine and water, since it is laid down as the type of the blood over which they give thanks. It fills with the Holy Spirit, and it belongs to the completely perfect human. Whenever we drink this, we will receive the perfect human.

¹⁰⁷ The living water is a body. It is necessary for us to put on the living human. So, coming down to the water, they strip themselves so that they will put on that one.

¹⁰⁸ A horse naturally begets a horse, a human begets (a) human, a god begets (a) god. And so it is regarding the Bridegroom within the Bride - [their Sons] came forth in the Bridal-Chamber. (The) Jews had not derived [...] from the Greeks, [...] and [we Christians do not derive] from the Jews. [...] And these were called [...] the chosen generation of the [Sacred Spirit] - the True Man and the Son of Mankind and the seed of the Son of Mankind. This generation is named true in the world. This is the place where the Sons of the Bridal-Chamber are.

¹⁰⁹ In this world, union is between male and female, the place of power and weakness; in the age, the union is like something else, but we refer to them by the same names. There are other names, however, that are above every name that is named, and they are better than the strong, because where there is force, there are those who are more powerful.

115 As Jesus perfected the water of baptism, that is the way he poured out death. So, we go down into the water, but we do not go down into death, so that we will not be poured out into the spirit of the world. When it blows, the winter comes. When the Holy Spirit breathes, the summer comes.

116 Whoever knows the truth is a free person, and the free person does not sin, because, “whoever sins is the slave of sin.” Truth is the Mother, but knowledge is the joining. Those who are not given to sin are called ‘free’ by the world. These who are not given to sin are made proud by the knowledge of the truth. That is what makes them free and exalts them over everything. But, “love builds up,” and whoever has been made free through knowledge is a slave because of love for those who are not yet able to attain [the] freedom of knowledge, [but] knowledge makes them able [to] become free.

117 Love [does not take] anything (for) its own [...] it [...] its own. It never [says, “this is mine”] or, “that is mine,” [but, “they” are yours.]

118 Spiritual love is wine with fragrance. All those who will anoint themselves with it enjoy it. While those who are anointed stay around, those who are nearby also enjoy it. If those who are anointed with ointment leave them and go, those who are not anointed but are only nearby remain in their stench. The Samaritan did not give anything to the wounded man except wine with oil. It was not anything but the ointment, and it healed the wounds, because, “love covers a multitude of sins.”

¹¹⁹ Those whom a woman bears will look like the man she loves. If it is her husband, they look like her husband; if it is an adulterer, they look like the adulterer. Often, if a woman sleeps with her husband because she has to, but her heart is with the adulterer with whom she is intimate and she bears a son, he whom she bears looks like the adulterer. But you who exist with the Son of God, do not love the world; rather, love the Lord, so that those you bear may not come to look like the world, but will come to look like the Lord.

If you become [spirit], it is the Spirit who will unite with you. [If] you become Word, it is the Word that will unite with you. If [you] become light, it is the light which will be intimate with you. If you become one of those from above, those from above will rest upon you. If you become horse or donkey or calf or dog or sheep or any other of the animals which are outside or below, neither human nor spirit nor Word nor light nor those from above nor those inside will be able to love you. They will not be able to rest within you, and you will have no part in them.

¹²¹ Whoever is an unwilling slave will be able to be freed.
 Whoever has become free by the grace of their master and has sold himself into slavery can no longer be made free.

¹²² The world is farmed through four things. They gather into barns through water, earth, wind, and light. And in the same way, God farms through four things too: through faith, hope, love, and knowledge. Our earth is the faith in which we are rooted. [And] the [water] is the hope through which [we are] nourished. The wind is the love through which we grow. And the light [is] the knowledge through which we [ripen].

¹²³ Grace exists in [four kinds. It is] earthly, it is [heavenly, ...] the heaven of the heaven [...] through [...] Blessed is the one who has not [...] a soul.

¹²⁴ This is Jesus Christ. He went everywhere and did not burden anyone. So, blessed is someone like this; they are a perfect person, because this one is the Word.

¹²⁵ Ask us about him, inasmuch as this (attempt to portray) him as upright is difficult. How can we succeed in this great (task)?

¹²⁶ How will he give rest to everyone? First and foremost, it is not right to cause anyone grief – whether great or small, or faithless or faithful – and then give rest to those who are at rest among those who are well off. There are some who benefit from giving rest to the one who is well off. Whoever does good cannot give rest to them because they cannot just do whatever they want; they cannot cause grief because they cannot cause distress, but sometimes the one who is well off causes them grief. They are not like that, but it is their (evil that causes them grief. Whoever has the nature gives joy to the one who is good, but some grieve terribly at this.

¹²⁷ A householder acquired everything, whether child or slave or cattle or dog or pig or wheat [or] barley or straw or hay or [...] or meat and acorn. [But they are] wise and understand what to feed each [one]. To the children they served bread [...] but [...] the] slaves they served [...], and to the cattle [they threw barley] and straw and hay. To [the] dogs they threw bones [and] to [the pigs] they threw acorns and slops. That is what it is like with the disciple of God. If they are wise, they understand what it means to be a disciple. The bodily forms will not deceive them, but they will look at the condition of the soul of each one and speak with them.

 There are many animals in the world that are made in human form. He (the disciple) recognizes them. To the pigs, he will throw acorns but, to the cattle, he will throw barley with straw and hay. To the dogs, he will throw bones, to the slaves, he will give the appetizer, and to the children he will give the perfect (food).

¹²⁸ There is the Son of Humanity, and there is the Grandson of Humanity. The Lord is the Son of Humanity, and the Grandson of Humanity is the one who creates through the Son of Humanity. The Son of Humanity received from God the ability to create. He (also) has the ability to beget.

¹²⁹ The one who can create is a creature; the one can beget is begotten. The one who creates cannot beget; the one who begets can create. They say, "The one who creates, begets."
 But what they beget is a creature. [So,] their begotten are not their children, but they are [...].

¹³⁰ The one who creates works [publicly] and are themselves [revealed]. The one who begets, begets [secretly] and they are hidden [...] the image. [Again], the one who [creates, creates] publicly, but the one who begets, [begets] children secretly.

 and the wife are intimate with each other, except they themselves, because the marriage of the world is a mystery for those who have married. If the defiled marriage is hidden, how much more is the undefiled marriage a true mystery! It is not fleshly, but pure. It is not of desire, but of the will. It is not of the darkness or the night, but it is of the day and the light. If a marriage is stripped naked, it becomes pornography – not only if the bride receives the seed of another man, but even if she leaves the chamber and is seen, she commits adultery.

 Let her reveal herself to her father, her mother, the best man, and the groom’s children. They are allowed to enter the bridal chamber every day. But let the others yearn just to hear her voice and enjoy her perfume, and, like dogs, let them eat the crumbs that fall from the table.
 Grooms and brides belong to the bridal chamber. No one will be able to see the groom and the bride unless [they become] such.

human's guts are hidden, the human is alive. If their guts are exposed and come out of them, the human will die. It is the same way with the tree. While its root is hidden, it blossoms and grows. If its root is exposed, the tree dries up. That is what it is like with everything that is born in the world, not only the revealed, but also the hidden; because as long as the root of evil is hidden, it is strong. But if it is recognized, it dissolves, and if it is revealed, it dies. So, the Word says, "Already the axe is laid at the root of the trees." It will not (just) cut, (because) that which will be cut blossoms again. Rather, the axe digs down into the ground until it brings up the root. Jesus plucked out the root completely, but others did so partially. As for us, let every one of us dig down to the root of the evil within and pluck it out from its root in us. It will be uprooted if we recognize it. But if we do not recognize it, it takes root within us and bears its fruit in us. It masters us, and we are forced to serve it. It captures us so that we do what we do [not] want to; and we do [not] do what we want to. [It is] powerful because we have not recognized it.
 It is active as long as [it exists].

¹³⁴ Ignorance is the mother of [all evil; and] ignorance (itself) results from [confusion]. Those things originating from [ignorance] neither were nor [are] nor shall be [among the truthful. Yet] they shall be perfected when the entire truth is revealed. For the truth is like ignorance – if it is hidden it reposes within itself, yet if it is revealed it is recognized. (The truth) is glorious in that it prevails over ignorance and liberates from confusion. The Logos says, “You shall know the truth (and) the truth will set you free!” Ignorance enslaves (but) recognition is freedom. By recognizing the truth, we shall find the fruits of the truth within our hearts. By mating with it, we shall receive our fulfilment.

¹³⁵ Now we have what is revealed of creation. We say, “Those who are strong are honourable, but those who are hidden are weak and scorned.” That is what it is like with those who are revealed of the truth; they are weak and scorned, but the hidden are strong and honourable.

¹³⁶ But the mysteries of the truth are revealed in types and images. The chamber is hidden, however; it is the Holy in the Holy.

¹³⁷ At first, the veil concealed how God managed the creation, but when the veil is torn and what is inside is revealed, then this house will be left behind [like] a desert, or rather, will be [destroyed]. And all divinity will flee [from] these places, not into the Holies [of the] Holies, because it will not be able to unite with the pure [light] and the [flawless] fullness, [but]

¹³⁸ This ark will [become their] salvation when the flood of ¹³⁹ If some belong to the tribe of priesthood, they will be permitted to enter inside the veil (of the Temple) with the high priest. Therefore, the veil was not torn only at the top, since it would have been open only to those at the top; nor was it torn only at the bottom, since it would have been revealed only to those at the bottom; but, rather, it was torn from the top to the bottom. Those at the top opened to us the bottom, so that we will enter the secret of the truth.

¹⁴⁰ This truly is what is honourable, what is strong, but we will enter there through scorned types and weaknesses. They are humbled in the presence of the perfect glory. There's glory that's better than glory; there's power that's better than power. So, the perfect was opened to us with the secrets of the truth, and the Holies of the Holies were revealed, and the chamber invited us in.

¹⁴¹ As long as it is hidden, evil is inactive, but it has not been removed from among the Holy Spirit's seed. They are slaves of evil. But whenever it is revealed, then the perfect light will flow out upon everyone, and all of them who are in it will [receive the chrism]. Then the slaves will be made free and the captives will be redeemed.

¹⁴² “[Every] plant [which] my Father who is in heaven [has not] planted [will be] uprooted.” Those who are separated will unite [...] will be filled. Everyone who will [enter] the chamber will kindle their [lamp], because [it is] like the marriages which are [...] happen at night, the fire [...] at night and is put out. But the mysteries of this marriage are fulfilled in the day and the light. Neither that day nor its light ever sets.

¹⁴³ If anyone becomes a child of the bridal chamber, they will receive the light. If anyone does not receive it while they are here, they will not be able to receive it in the other place. Whoever receives that light will not be seen or bound, and no one will be able to trouble one like this, even while they dwell in the world. Moreover, when they leave the world, they have already received the Truth in the images. The world has become the ages, because the age is the fullness for them, and it is like this: it is revealed to them alone. It is not hidden in the darkness and the night, but it is hidden in a perfect day and a holy light.
